Unit I: Lesson B5

Time Line: Ancient Numbers

Make a time line for any period of years that you choose. Choose a theme for your time line, such as presidents, famous inventions, times when different states joined the Union, or any other theme you want to study.

Research dates for a time line. Your finished product should include all the important dates during your chosen time period.

Display your time line to the class when you are finished. Include a brief essay explaining why you chose the theme you did, and why each of the dates on your time line are significant ones.
