Unit II: Lesson D5

Story: Division Story

Write at least six division story problems that tell a story when read in order from first to last. You choose the type of story: humor, tragedy, romance, mystery, adventure, or other. Each problem should include complete word sentences and number form. And all of them must be answered.

When you've finished your story, read it to the class, letting them answer each problem before you move on to complete the story. Make your story as interesting as possible so that your audience will enjoy it.
