Unit V: Lesson A3

Display: Tribal Relics

From the Internet and your school or local library, find resources about Native American tribes in your state. Choose one tribe in your area to study in-depth.

Ask students, family members, and your local library and museum to help you find interesting objects, pictures, and posters to represent the tribe you have selected.

Organize these objects and materials into a bulletin board and table display, with a written description of each artifact and its significance.
