Unit II: Lesson B5

Scrapbook: Blue Laws

Research Blue Laws, which were used in 17th-century America.

Some of these laws were very strict because of the Puritan government. Some have never been changed and therefore could still be enforced today. Examples of Blue Laws are, "No woman shall kiss her child on the Sabbath" and "Married persons must live together or be imprisoned."

Set up a Blue Law section of the scrapbook started in activity four.
